Communication at Camp

- Mail:

Camper's love getting mail at camp and we encourage mail at Bearskin Meadow Camp and Camp de Los Niños. We recommend sending mail one week ahead of time to ensure that it arrives when your camper is with us. Please do not send food.

- Internet:

At Bearskin Meadow Camp we have very limited wireless internet that will be available to parents at Family Camp sessions only. The internet is available only in the Dining Hall and we ask that you limit internet use to work-related business only.

At other programs, internet is more widely available and will be restricted to adults only.

- Phones:

There is no cell service at Bearskin Meadow Camp but limited service exists within a 20-30 minute drive. We do have a landline for emergency use and short calls. For longer calls, you are encouraged to bring a calling card for our payphone.

At other programs, cell service is more widely available but not always dependable. Landlines are present at each location in case of an emergency.

A special note about Independent Camps (Buddy, Teen, Kids, LIT, Camp de Los Niños)

Missing home or being anxious about being away is natural for children and parents. Camp, with its supportive staff and volunteers, is the best place to allow your child to work through these feelings. We discourage parent visits at camp and do not allow phone calls between home and campers during session. Campers adjust more quickly to camp and experience less homesickness by the third day of camp. We find those who are expecting a call or a visit hang on to worries about home much longer.

If your child's homesickness is a concern or you are worried while your child is at camp, please feel free to call us any time at camp. We would be happy, when possible, to put your child's counselor on the phone to chat with you about how your child is doing. We also never hesitate to call home if a concern arises about your child while they are at camp.
